

THE TRINITY TIMES

THE NEWSLETTER OF TRINITY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

NOVEMBER 2017

From the pastor

Matthew 25 contains the story of the wise and foolish bridesmaids, the story of the three servants who were entrusted with the master's fortune, and the story of the Son of Man, coming in his glory, who summons all the nations before him and puts some at his right hand and some at his left hand, sends some to eternal life and some to eternal punishment. All three of these stories have scary endings—a door is shut in the face of the foolish bridesmaids, a slave is thrown into the outer darkness, and everyone on the left hand side of the Son of Man is sent away into eternal punishment.

All of these stories also have an element of time in them, concluding that while on this earth, one should be using one's time wisely and well, prepared to give account for one's life when the Son of Man comes in his glory.

Interpreted that way, these stories run the risk of reducing our lives to a spiritual "to do" list. Enough oil to last in case the bridegroom is delayed? Wise investing of talents entrusted to us? Tending the least of these brothers and sisters who are all around me? Check, check, check.

But we are not saved by works. No matter how much oil we have in our lamp, how many more talents we produce, how large our entourage of hungry, sick, naked, imprisoned least of these members of Christ's family. It's not what we do that saves us, it's what Christ has done for us. Still, how can we read anything other than works-righteousness into this story of the ones at the right hand and ones at the left hand? The Son of Man—the King—Jesus—clearly commends and rewards the sheep for having given food to the hungry, drink to the thirsty, welcomed the stranger, clothed the naked, taken care of the sick, visited those in prison. And he clearly condemns the goats for not having done the same.

But when we focus on the sheep and goats, the right hand and the left hand, eternal life or eternal punishment, we lose sight of the most obvious, most important character in this parable: the Son of Man, the King, Jesus.

All eyes are on the Son of Man as he arrives and takes the throne, as he gathers the nations before him, as he separate the sheep from the goats. Good works are fine, commendable even—but it's not the what, it's the who. The story begins, "When the Son of Man comes in his glory. . ." and yet what his words reveals is that the Son of Man isn't just arriving, he's already there. His appearance isn't some future event, the Son of Man is here among us, has been among us all along. He's not coming to be with us at some future event—he's here with us, now, Immanuel.

It's not about good works, it's about the Son of Man, who knows his sheep and the goats, even if they don't know him. In this third parable, the Son of Man knows his flock. He's the good shepherd who knows his sheep—and his goats—even when the sheep and goats don't know him. "When did we see you?" they all say. The word used by the sheep and the goats, when questioning the King's judgment, is translated "see" but it's the kind of sight we associate with knowledge or perception of a person or a situation. It's recognition. The sheep don't recognize Jesus but their loving actions prove it doesn't matter; the goats don't recognize Jesus but instead make excuses.

Jesus' response to both is that he recognized us because he was there. He was there when we fed a hungry person or gave someone a cup of cold water. He was there when a stranger felt welcomed and a sick person was comforted. He was there when a poor person was given clothing and an afternoon was devoted to visiting with a prisoner. And now here he is, all cleaned up, the Son of Man, seated on his throne. The ones on the right hand and the ones on the left hand are both surprised by the Son of Man's words, but there's no surprise on the part of the Son of Man. He knows his flock. The truth is, he laid down his life for his sheep and his goats. He's the good shepherd who knows how faithfully you have lived your life.

The focus in this parable is on the Son of Man, not the sheep or the goats. It's the Son of Man, coming in glory in this dramatic scene with sheep on the right and goats on the left, with a terrible, awesome speech of acceptance and rejection. But it's the Son of Man, who comes in glory and yet dwells among us. "Truly I tell you, just as you did it to one of the least of these who are members of my family, you did it to me."

MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS FOR THE ANNUAL THANKSGIVING DINNER

Plan to join us for the Annual Thanksgiving Dinner on Sunday, November 19, following Worship in the Fellowship Hall. We welcome newcomers, students and visitors to this luncheon as our guests for this traditional Trinity Thanksgiving feast with fellowship.

The Fellowship Committee will be preparing the meal and to give the committee an idea of how many to prepare for, please fill out the reservation form and drop it in the offering plate, call the church office (615-297-6513) or e-mail the office at office@trinitypresnashville.org by Wednesday, November 15.

Again we are asking for donations of desserts for the luncheon. They may be homemade or purchased -- bring your favorite Thanksgiving desserts to share!

Suggested donation for members and friends: Adults - $10, children and youth - $5. If you would be willing to help clean up afterward, please indicate it in the space provided on the reservation form or let Linda know when you call or e-mail.

We look forward to joining together for this blessed time of fellowship and giving thanks!

MUSIC NOTES

by Simon Thomas Jacobs
Music Director

As many of you know, I travel frequently to perform concerts around the USA (and occasionally even further afield) but on Sunday, November 12 at 4 p.m., I will have the great pleasure of performing an Organ Recital at “home” as part of Trinity’s 75th anniversary celebrations.

The organ has one of the most extensive repertoires of all instruments and my program shall include music spanning several centuries: from the exuberance of the North German Baroque in Vincent Lübeck’s Praeludium in E and works by the great Johann Sebastian Bach and his son, Carl Philip Emmanuel Bach, to music by several twentieth-century British composers.

A collection will be taken at the concert and all proceeds will go to help those affected by the recent hurricane in Puerto Rico. Please consider giving generously. Copies of my CD, Parthenia Nova will be on sale following the concert and I will be contributing half of the proceeds from those sales as well.

And for those of you who are interested to know where I have been recently, please feel free to visit my website www.simonthomasjacobs.com which also contains some recordings and videos.

NEW HYMN TO DEBUT AT NOVEMBER 5 SERVICE

Church attendees will be in for a big treat at Trinity’s 75th Anniversary Service on November 5, when “We All Are One” a brand new hymn will be sung for the very first time.

Trinity’s own Robert Rutherford wrote the text and music for the hymn which he dedicated to the church for its 75th Anniversary.

Director of Music, Simon Thomas Jacobs and Michael Gebhart arranged the harmony and descant for the new piece.

The Rutherford family was one of the charter families when Trinity was organized on November 1, 1942. Robert is a longtime choir member and has written several shorter pieces in the past.

“We All Are One” is the third hymn dedicated to Trinity after Karl Plank’s, “O Gathered Throng of Many Days” in 1982 and “Outgoing God” by Hal Hopson and Brian Wren in 1992.

A TIMELY REMINDER!

ADULT EDUCATION IN NOVEMBER

The Adult Education class will complete its study of the Book of Acts in reverse at the end of November, at which time the class will move into a new Bible study focusing on the Advent season in December.

November's lessons will begin with chapters 12 and 11.

During the October 1 Worship Service, children who had attended NaCoMe played "Jesus Loves Me" on the bells. The children had learned to play at NaCoMe under the direction of Rev. Sally Hughes. The musicians were Jack McLean, Maddy McLean, Penn Kahn, Maya Monterroso, Sofia Monterroso, Liam Ritchie, Evie Rutherford, and Xander Rutherford.

TWO BIRTHDAYS CELEBRATED ON OCTOBER 1

Linda Rutherford and Aad Zeeuw celebrated their joint birthday on October 1. The flowers placed in the sanctuary were given in celebration of Linda's birthday and ice cream and cake were served in the East Hall in celebration of Aad's birthday. The First Sunday Fellowship was a reception in honor of both celebrants!

SUNDAY SCHOOL FOR CHILDREN AND YOUTH

Sunday School for children and youth will continue during the worship service (following the Time for Children) in the nursery area (for children) and parlor (for youth). Cindy Turner is the teacher.

As the children return from the sanctuary, there will be brief free play before the lesson begins. To open, the class will light a candle and then offer a prayer. The opening will be followed by a Bible story and a related activity. Sunday School will be closed with extinguishing the candle and prayer, and if weather permits, free play outside.

Through August, September, and mid-October, the focus of the Sunday lessons will come from the books of Genesis and Exodus. In the coming weeks, the class(es) will study the Patriarchs, Abraham, Isaac, Isaac and Rebecca, Jacob, Jacob and Esau, Jacob's ladder, and Joseph sold by his brothers. Then the focus will shift to the story of Moses, beginning with Joseph's interpretations of Pharaoh's dreams, followed by Moses' being drawn from the water, his flight from Egypt, the story of the burning bush, the plagues of Egypt which resulted in the freeing of the Hebrews from slavery, the Passover, and the journey to the Promised Land.

Please send your children (pre-school through elementary) with Cindy following the Time for Children for an interesting and informative series of Sunday School lessons.

SANDWICHED IN SORROW

by Warner Durnell, Executive Presbyter
Presbytery of Middle Tennessee

For many here in Middle Tennessee, the week of September 24 thru October 1, 2017 ended up being eight days sandwiched in sorrow! On Sunday afternoon, September 24th, we learned of the gun violence that occurred at a local church in Nashville. A lone gunman shot and killed a young woman in the parking lot of the Burnette Chapel Church of Christ in Antioch before going inside to shoot the pastor and six other worshipers. Then on Sunday night, October 1st, news flashed across our television screens telling of a mass shooting in Las Vegas at an outdoor country music concert, resulting in multiple deaths and many more wounded. Sadness swept over us.

Once more we have been tragically reminded that estranged, hurt, angry and demented people are capable of calculating and committing despicable and utterly diabolical acts. Filling a backpack stuffed with explosives for detonation in the midst of race spectators; getting behind the steering wheel of a truck or car to torpedo unsuspecting tourist and peaceful protestors; loading a handgun, or worse, an automatic rifle, then firing indiscriminately for the sole purpose of killing others in cold blood; these are some of the sadistic ways in which disturbed people do violent acts of great harm to people. The randomness and frequency of these violent acts that end in murder and mayhem means that there are no completely terror free zones anymore. Thankfully the due diligence of law enforcement agencies and officers, combined with the vigilance of watchful citizens, have thwarted many a dark plot. I am equally convinced that the fervent prayers of God's people have also helped to stay the hand and foil the plans of would-be evil doers.

In the aftermath of this past week sandwiched in sorrow I wanted to do something, to do more that might lessen the likelihood of a repeat of what took place at the Burnette Chapel Sunday before last, and on the Las Vegas strip last Sunday. To advocate for better funding of the mental health wing of this nation's health industry, to urge our congresspersons to consider revisiting common sense gun legislation, and to support local police in their measures to counter criminal activity. But before rushing out to do something, I was impressed with the need to really tap into the sorrow and sadness that I was feeling, and to hold in prayer the victims of these recent shootings, along with their family and friends; to pray for law enforcers who put their lives in harm's way protecting us on a daily basis; to give thanks for first responders and hospital personnel who work tirelessly to bind the wounded and to save lives. Perhaps it's the piety of my upbringing that moves me to allow the grief I am feeling to drive me to my knees and to cry out to God for help in our troubled times. In all our doing, let's be fervent in prayer, beseeching God for wisdom and guidance in times like these. To quote a hymn writer, "In times like these we need a Savior!"

OFFICE HOURS FOR SALLY HUGHES

Sally has office hours Tuesday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., and also by appointment if someone needs to come by earlier or later.

ORDER YOUR POINSETTIAS FOR ADVENT AND CHRISTMAS

Would you like to help beautify the sanctuary for the Advent and Christmas season by funding the purchase of poinsettias? They can be given in honor, memory, or celebration of someone, and the names will be listed in the bulletin.

If you would like to place an order, complete the slip in the Sunday bulletin and drop it in the offering plate with your check designated for poinsettias. Or you can call (615-297-6513) or e-mail at (office@trinitypresnashville.org) and leave your name, the number of poinsettias, and whose honor/memory or celebration you would like acknowledged in the bulletin.

The cost is $10 for each 6 1/2-inch poinsettia. Make your check payable to Trinity Presbyterian Church. You may take your plant(s) following the Christmas Day worship service or the New Year's service. Orders will be accepted through Sunday, December 3.

Fall Issue of the Church Directory is available in the church office. If you find corrections that are needed, or if you prefer not to have your name or certain information in the directory, please call or e-mail the office. Also, if you want the directory as a PDF version, call or e-mail the office. Note: The directory is for private use of participants in Trinity's ministry and is not to be sent to a mailing list.

SPECIAL GROUP ACTIVITY MEETINGS

Presbyterian Women meet the first Tuesday of the month at 10 a.m. in the Trinity parlor. This month PW will meet on Tuesday, November 7, at 10 a.m. in the parlor. We will study book, Lesson Three, "In Community with the Living Word", from Cloud of Witnesses: The Community of Christ in Hebrews. Bring your lunch for fellowship after the Bible study.

 Adventures went to the Frist Center for the Visual Arts on Friday, October 29. Following a tour of the current exhibitions, including the Curator's Tour: World War I and American Art, the group ate lunch at the Frist Cafe. The group will meet monthly for a visit to an area site and a lunch following. If you have a suggestion for an outing, either in Nashville or in Middle Tennessee, please speak to Sally or call the office (615-297-6513). Rides will be furnished.

You are invited to join the Changing Gears group for lunch and fellowship at Westminster Presbyterian on Wednesday, November 8. Lindsay Cunningham and Friends from the Hillsboro Opera Ensemble will perform. Reservations for lunch are required by noon on the Friday before, and there is a $10 charge for lunch. Call Jill at the Westminster church office (292-5526) for reservations or if you'd like more information.

NOVEMBER BIRTHDAYS

Maya Monterroso – 8

Maddy McLean - 28

Will Berger - 28

Our apologies if we have missed your birthday or if it is incorrect. If we have missed or muffed your special day please call the church office at 297-6513 and let us know.

THE ONLINE CALENDAR

For a complete list of activities, visit www.trinitypresnashville.org and click on “church calendar”. The calendar is updated regularly as activities are added, deleted, or changed. If your committee or group schedules a meeting using the church’s facilities, please contact Linda Rogers (297-6513 or linda@trinitypresnashville.org) so your meeting can be placed on the calendar, or if there is a facilities conflict, it can be resolved before scheduling.

VOLUNTEER AT DOWNTOWN PRESBYTERIAN ON DECEMBER 7

Downtown Presbyterian Church is looking for volunteers to help with their Waffle House on December 7th. The proceeds from the Waffle House go to help the homeless ministry in downtown Nashville. DPC is in need of volunteers to help decorate, set up the room, cook waffles, clean up afterward. DPC is a small congregation who wishes to partner with another small congregation like Trinity to make this annual event possible! If you are interested, please let Linda Rogers or Sally Hughes know.

WORSHIP AND LUNCHEON TO CELEBRATE 75TH ANNIVERSARY OF TRINITY

On November 1, 1942, Trinity Presbyterian Church was officially founded as a new church in Nashville. Sunday, November 5, we will celebrate the 75th year of Trinity’s existence. To mark the occasion, references to the anniversary will be made in morning worship. A hymn written especially for the anniversary will be sung by the congregation. The hymn’s author, Robert Rutherford, is the son of one of the founding members of the church.

Following the worship, the Fellowship Committee will provide a formal meal complete with anniversary cake for dessert. Although there are no longer any living founders of the church, there are still children of founders -- Allen Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown; Jimbo Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Cook; Sally Hughes and Judy Schomber, granddaughters of Lucile G. Hughes, daughters of Paul A. Hughes and nieces of James M. Hughes; Robert Rutherford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Rutherford. Several Trinity members have regularly attended since the late 1940’s and 1950’s -- Susan Brockett (whose marriage to Milton Y. Brockett was the first formal wedding in the new sanctuary, now the Fellowship Hall, in 1947), Frances Burns, Hank Howerton, Bill and Joan Dougherty, Ruth Sims, and Ann Wise. Members on the roll for at least 25 years are Vira Baker, Vera Billington, Norma DeJarnette, Bill and Joan Dougherty, James and Thoma Parker, Ruth Sims and Benita Sims.

NASHVILLE CONCERTO ORCHESTRA PLAYS AT TRINITY

The Nashville Concerto Orchestra, Mozart in Nashville, again chose Trinity to perform its Autumn Concert on Saturday, October 7, in the sanctuary. Donations to the concert went to benefit the Zoe Maggipinto Brain Cancer Research Fund. Zoe was the daughter of Linden Waldorf School parents.

First soloist Jessica Blackwell, violin, played the Concerto for Violin by Chris Ferrell, a local violist and composer who plays with the Nashville Symphony. Ferrell wrote his Concerto for his friend Jessica, also a member of the Nashville Symphony. Christopher Norton conducted.

Jonathan Warburton is one of the world's most active trombone freelance soloists. He played Concertino for Bass Trombone and Strings by Steven Verhelst. Of the piece for a most unlikely solo instrument, conductor Gabrielle Lewis has said, ". . . it's exciting because of its vibrant energy and unconventional use of the bass trombone as a solo instrument in the orchestra setting . . ."

HOWARD MAYBERRY'S FUNERAL SERVICE

Over 200 persons were in attendance for the Celebration of Life & Love of Howard Lee Mayberry, sexton at Trinity for over 30 years and member. Howard died October 6, 2017. Rev. Sally Hughes led the service, along with eulogist Rev. Jimmy Overton. Will Berger accompanied on the organ and piano. A viewing and reception preceded the service. Burial followed in Lyles, Tennessee.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE SESSION

Moderator: Rev. Sally Hughes

STATED MEETING OF THE SESSION September 21, 2017

The Lambda Chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous is meeting Mondays and Thursdays from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. every week in the Fellowship Hall.

Linden Waldorf is utilizing the Parlor from 12 p.m. through 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A weekly music class approved for the Chapel did not come about this Fall, but may still happen early next year.

A reminder church work days have been set up for September 23 and 30 beginning at 8 a.m. each Saturday. A list of projects will be posted and are expected to include cleaning windows, trimming bushes and garden areas and cleaning the kitchen.

Bids for the cost of repairing/painting the gutters around the sanctuary were encouraged. This information will be shared with Charlie Bundy.

The Shared Space Agreement committee is waiting on completion of the 2018 budget. The annual staff position reviews and interviews are underway and should be completed within a few weeks.

Linden Waldorf sent the session a communique addressing the school's interest in the Monroe Harding Foster Home property which was recently put up for sale. Some decision about purchasing the property should occur by mid-October.

Plans for the 75th Anniversary dinner on November 5 are ongoing. Invitations should be mailed early next month (October).

Bill Dougherty and Cindy Turner were elected to represent Trinity at the Thursday, October 19, Presbytery meeting at NaCoMe.

The next stated session meeting will be October 12, 2017 at 7 p.m.

“AVENTURE” GROUP TOURS THE FRIST

The “Adventure” group chose as its October excursion a visit to the Frist Center for the Visual Arts with lunch in the Frist Cafe. The group enjoyed especially the “World War I and American Art” exhibit which will be at the Frist through January 21, 2018.

This is the first major exhibition to show how Americans from different points of view experienced World War I. The collection of 140 pieces includes eclectic types of expression, from propaganda posters promoting the war effort, to anti-war drawings, to paintings and prints, camouflage, and surveillance photographs. The varied artists include soldiers, relief workers, and official war artists.

The collection includes the John Singer Sargent painting “Gassed” as well as John Montgomery Flagg’s “I Want YOU for the U.S. Army”. There are also 12 watercolors by Claggart Wilson.

LINDEN WALDORF SCHOOL NEWS

Recently Linden Waldorf School learned that it had achieved a long-desired accreditation by the two most important accrediting bodies in the nation. Here is the letter which the school sent to its families:

Dear Linden Waldorf School Families,

For three days this past week, our school had the long-anticipated pleasure of welcoming six members of a joint Accreditation Team representing the Association of Waldorf Schools of North America (AWSNA) and the Southern Association of Independent Schools (SAIS). This visit represents the culmination of an intensive year-long process of a voluntary rigorous and impartial standards-based review of our mission-based program. Every aspect of our school was examined, including governance, fiscal policies, facilities, operational procedures, teacher preparation, and student outcomes. In addition, this process provided an invaluable sustained period of community-wide self-reflection on our mission, our history, and our future, and led us to identify our goals for the self-study we will take up over the next 5 years.

The grit and determination of our first twenty years as a school came down to 3:30 last Tuesday, when at the conclusion of our exit interview, the team announced to us their decision to unanimously recommend us for accreditation by these two venerable organizations. As you can imagine, there was an audible, collective sigh of relief at hearing those words (and a few tears).

Our joint accreditation by AWSNA and SAIS represents an exciting new chapter in a life-long partnership between our school leadership, our extended community, and these accrediting bodies; a partnership to hold us accountable to our own mission and goals as we recommit ourselves to a path of continuous self-improvement.

It's my privilege to have a front row seat to this milestone that so many before us have made possible, and I joyfully invite you to share in this accomplishment.

In service,

Tricia

Tricia Drake, Administrative Chair on behalf of the Accreditation Steering Committee

CASSEROLE POTLUCK ON OCTOBER 22

What a variety of wonderful casseroles awaited the Trinity folks after worship on October 22. Chicken casseroles, spaghetti and lasagna and other pasta casseroles, rice casserole, corn casserole, broccoli and cheese casserole, oriental casserole, beef pepper steak, chicken pot pie, Spanish paella, meatball casserole, and many other delicious casserole choices invited Trinity folks to sample as many as possible. Salad, rolls, and a choice of fudge cake, brown sugar squares, and apple crisp bars with ice cream or whipped cream for dessert rounded out the meal. The Vanderbilt UKirk group was given a special invitation to join us and students also shared the meal.
